Subject: APS wants a temporary rate hike to cover higher fuel costs

Hello,

So today I received the APS bill, and enclosed with it was a flyer explaining that APS wants to hike their rates temporarily in order to cover the higher costs of fuel. OK fine. I'll tell you what you guys go ahead and approve it but just to be fare I want a wage increase to cover the higher cost of gasoline and the higher cost of phone service and the higher. Do you get the idea? What gives them the right to think that they can raise their rates, with your blessing, to cover higher operating costs if we as consumers can't do the same?

Hey if you want to get right down to it, what gave "W" the right to double his salary after he "took office" and I say that as a figure of speech only, from what other presidents had been paid previously. And then on top of that he operates in some pretty strange ways once he is in there.

But back to APS and their whining. How do I get on the committee that oversees this type of thing because I'd just love to turn them down in no uncertain terms?
